March 5, 2013

To: Faculty and Graduate Students at the University of Oregon

From: Lynn Fujiwara
Department Head, Ethnic Studies

Re: Graduate Teaching Fellowships in Ethnic Studies

The Ethnic Studies Department is seeking qualified applicants for Graduate Teaching Fellowships at .20, .30, .40, and .49 FTE for the 2013-2014 academic year. Review of applications will begin March 22, 2013.

Qualifications:

1. Admission to University of Oregon graduate program as a master's or doctoral degree-seeking student.
2. Significant knowledge of African American, Chicana/Chicano, U.S. Latina/Latino, Native American, Asian American, Arab American, comparative ethnic studies, and/or women of color feminism.
3. For some positions, teaching experience is required.
4. Record of academic excellence.
5. Strong interdisciplinary background.

Duties:

Four types of positions are available:

1. Assisting the instructor in ES 101, and leading two (2) discussion sections (.40 FTE).
2. Grading or assisting the instructor with grading/course related work for ES 250, 252, 254, 256 or 352 (.40 FTE).
3. Providing some assistance with faculty research (.20 - .40 FTE).
4. Teaching a stand-alone course (e.g., ES 199) on a topic within Ethnic Studies (.49 FTE).

Salary is determined by the GTF bargaining contract, which mandates different salary ranges based on experience and academic level. The Fellowship includes a waiver of tuition, fee subsidy and health benefits.

Application materials may be downloaded from the Graduate School web site, the Ethnic Studies Department web site or picked up from the Reception Desk in the Ethnic Studies Department office, 104 Alder Building, University of Oregon, Eugene, OR 97403, (541) 346-0900. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8:00 am to 5:00 pm. An application must include a cover letter, an Application for Graduate Teaching Fellow Award
(http://gradschool.uoregon.edu/staff/gtf-forms), a copy of transcripts (unofficial transcripts also accepted), two letters of reference (or 2 Report on Graduate Applicant forms: http://gradschool.uoregon.edu/staff/gtf-forms), and a current C.V. including an outline of the applicant’s qualifications, interests, and future goals in ethnic studies. For teaching positions, please include a syllabus of the proposed course(s).

Departmental Contact #: Donella-Eliz. Alston or Jessi Cotter (541)-346-0900

Applications must be filed with:
Ethnic Studies Department, 104 Alder Building

Positions will remain open until filled

This announcement is posted with the following departments: Anthropology, Comparative Literature, Counseling Psychology, Education Studies, English, Environmental Studies, Ethnic Studies, Geography, Graduate School, History, International Studies, Philosophy, Planning, Public Policy, and Management, Political Science, Romance Languages, Sociology, and Women’s & Gender Studies.

Our General Duties and Responsibilities Statement (GDRS), which includes our general appointment/reappointment process and criteria, is available online: http://gradschool.uoregon.edu/gtf/rights-and-responsibilities/gdrs.

The University of Oregon is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply.

CC: Graduate School; GTFF; Affirmative Action