Course Description:
African American History II is an introduction to modern African American history. It begins during the Civil War and concludes in the post-Civil Rights era. The objective of the course is to assess watershed periods: the Great Migration and World War I; the Great Depression; World War II; the Cold War and Civil Rights movement; and the Black Power movement; as well as to engage central themes in modern African American history, such as Black nationalism, African American nationalism, and Black internationalism.

Format: Attendance and participation during class meetings and discussion section are mandatory (25%). Each student will write two essays of 3-5 pages worth 25% each (50% total of the final grade). The essay topics will be provided by the professor. The final paper (25%) will be 5-7 pages; this final essay will be based primarily on material covered in lecture, the text book, the articles, and the primary sources. The final exam will be a comprehensive take home exam at the end of the course. All essays must be double spaced, 1” margins, and in 12 point font (Times New Roman). Students with four or more unexcused absences in discussion section will fail the course. Students are asked to direct all communications regarding absences to the GTFs of their respective discussion sections. Neither I nor the GTFs will share our lecture notes with you. If you miss class, it is your responsibility to obtain lecture notes from your class mates.

Late Papers:
*Late papers will be lowered one letter grade for every day that they are beyond the deadline unless there is a documented medical reason that warrants an extension. Both the GTFs and I reserve the right to refuse to grade papers that are handed in well past the deadline.
Students with Disabilities:
If you have a documented disability and anticipate needing accommodations in this course, please make arrangements to meet with me soon. Please bring a notification letter from Disability Services outlining your approved accommodations.

Required texts:
Darlene Clark Hine, The African-American Odyssey
Anne Moody, Coming of Age in Mississippi

Autobiographies:
I would suggest that you begin reading the autobiographies immediately. Crusade for Justice is a lengthy read but the narrative moves fast, as does Moody’s. In both, the prose is clean, and while the lives of these women are embedded in the significant historical events of the time, they are also embedded in the very familiar experiences we all encounter, so do not worry about unfamiliarity with the historical period. All will make sense in time.

Documents and Articles:
The majority of the documents are available on the CD-ROM attached to the back cover of the textbook, The African American Odyssey. The other documents as well as the articles will be on Electronic Reserve or Blackboard.
